

1 I have already done KYC. Should I do eKYC too?

If you have already done your KYC, you DON'T need to do an eKYC.

For those who have already initiated their KYC and have an acknowledgement and the status from their KRAs, eKYC is not applicable.

All those first-time (Resident Individuals) investors who have not done their KYC, and who have a PAN and Aadhaar number, can do an eKYC.

2 What I should do in the following scenarios:

A) What if I have PAN and but don't want to use my Aadhaar number?

At present, eKYC is only for those who have both, PAN and Aadhaar numbers. However, if you don't wish to use your Aadhaar number, you can choose to approach one of the KRAs and complete your KYC process to start transacting online.

B) What if I have PAN but don't have Aadhaar number?

At present, eKYC is only for those who have both, PAN and Aadhaar numbers. However, if you don't have Aadhaar number, you can choose to approach one of the KRAs and complete your KYC process to start transacting online.

3 How to start the eKYC process?

Step 1: Go to the registration page

Step 2: Enter your PAN number

Step 3: Enter your Aadhaar number, registered mobile number, email id, and proceed

4 Up to what amount can I invest?

If you have both your PAN and Aadhaar, you can get your eKYC done instantly.

You can make a purchase with your eKYC up to Rs.50,000 per annum. SEBI currently permits an investment of Rs.50,000/- per annum for Aadhaar based eKYC after OTP verification.

However, if you wish to invest more than Rs.50,000, you need to complete an In-Person Verification or Biometric based authentication at any of our nearest Investor Service Centre's or else you can choose to approach one of the KRAs and complete your KYC process.

5 I have PAN and Aadhaar but why can't I invest above INR 50,000?

SEBI currently permits an investment of up to Rs.50,000 per annum for Aadhaar based eKYC after OTP verification.

However, if you wish to invest more than Rs.50,000, you need to complete an In-Person Verification or Biometric based authentication at any of our nearest Investor Service Centre's or, else you can choose to approach one of the KRAs and complete your KYC process.
